

HCC Partners with The EveryWoman Project

We are thrilled to share the news that HCC has partnered with The EveryWoman Project: a collective of kind souls who collect, assemble, and distribute sanitary care packages in communities across North America. This partnership is a direct response to the immediate need for accessible hygienic resources. Experts agree that the monthly menstrual cycle is both a hygienic and financial crisis for people who are experiencing poverty or homelessness.

HCC will work with The EveryWoman Project to acquire donations and bringin attention to this need in our communities. HCC will also serve as the flagship location for The EveryWoman Project, which means we will be accepting product donations as well as handing out care packages to anyone who needs one at HCC's offices, located at 3807-3809 Church Ave, Brooklyn, 11203.

This partnership also aligns perfectly with HCC's community-driven health initiatives, including the wildly successful FITBK, which provides free structured, weekly cardio fitness classes to thousands of people all over Brooklyn. We are passionate about the health of our community, and proper access to hygienic resources is of the utmost importance. We also encourage our FITBK family to bring unopened packages of sanitary products when they join us for their next workout. Every little bit helps!

What we need most right now is product donations in bulk. If you or someone you know might consider donating large-scale product to us, we'd love to talk to them! Please reach out if you have any insight into acquiring product donations en masse.
